The Sultan Accepts His Statements as Semi-Official Utterances of the French Government—Defeat of the Sixtieth Rifles—British Force Inadequate for Action.

LONDON, August 9.—A Constantinople dispatch says: De Lesseps' influence with the Porte is believed to be growing. It is understood that the Sultan accepts his statements as being inspired by France in a any not wholly objectionable to Germany, there appears to be no doubt of the order postponing the departure for Egypt of the former Pasha. Dervisch Pasha was secured by De Lesseps. Both these Pashas are acknowledged sympathizers with Arabi, and if Turkish troops had gone to Egypt they would have been directed by him. Dervisch would undoubtedly have seized the first opportunity of securing an alliance with Arabi, and would never do him harm. The British government knew this and as an act of intimidation threatened to resist the landing of Turkish troops unless the Porte agreed to order them to be placed under British military direction. This the Porte would promise to do, although ostensibly continuing preparations to send troops. In Le Temps, fearing the first result of this implication would be a general attack on the canal by the natives, strove with success to delay the departure of Derwich and Server. CONSTANTINOPLE, August 7.—Lord Dufferin had an interview with Said Pasha to-day. The latter gave Dufferin a satisfactory explanation respecting the delay which occurred in settling the terms of the proclamation against Arabi Pasha, and the terms of the military convention with England. He expressed the hope that they would be ready by Thursday. A aide-de-camp of the Khedive arrived
